Authors

The undersigned declare that they are the author or authors of the manuscript submitted to the Boletín and confirm that this is the final and correct version for editorial consideration. They further affirm that they have contributed to the various stages of the conception, development and completion of the manuscript. Finally, they acknowledge that they are familiar with the rights and responsibilities of the authors and editors of the Boletín.

The authors acknowledge that the Boletín considers only human beings to be “authors” and “co-authors” of a work and does not accept AI tools as such. By signing this Declaration, they accept responsibility for the accuracy, truthfulness, originality and integrity of the work, including any parts generated or assisted by AI. In such cases, they undertake to disclose this explicitly in accordance with the Boletín's current policy on the use of AI.

Declaration of Originality

The authors affirm that:

- a) The content of the work submitted to the Boletín is original, that is, it presents new findings or scientific knowledge in the case of a research article; examines, analyses, organises and discusses published information on a specific topic, without necessarily presenting new experimental results, in the case of a review article; or develops a critical and well-founded analysis of an authored or edited work, in the case of a book review. They further certify that the work is unpublished, that is, it has neither been published nor is currently under consideration for publication, in whole or in part, by another journal or publisher, nor has it been published in any academic or scientific journal, book, conference proceedings or similar publication.

- b) All data and written sections contained in the manuscript and its supplementary materials derive from research conducted by the authors, except for any duly identified and referenced exceptions, in accordance with the citation guidelines of the Boletín.
- c) All primary and secondary sources, data and information drawn from other publications have been properly identified, with due credit given to their authors and all the information required by the Journal's editorial policies.
- d) In the event that graphic or audiovisual material from another source is reproduced, such as tables, figures, graphs, statistics, photographs, audio or video, the source is properly identified and cited in accordance with the citation guidelines, and the necessary permissions for the use of copyrighted material have also been obtained.

The authors of this manuscript acknowledge that they are responsible for informing the Boletín of the use of images or audiovisual material subject to copyright restrictions. In the event of a breach of this requirement, the Boletín reserves the right to suspend publication at whatever stage it may have reached, even if publication has been recommended by the reviewers or the manuscript is already undergoing editing and publication.

Partial or Complete Duplication

Any sections of this manuscript that correspond to previous publications by the same authors have been duly identified in the manuscript in accordance with the Journal's citation and bibliographic referencing guidelines.

Data

The authors of this work declare that the data used are accurate and were obtained through proper scientific procedures. They further undertake to inform the Boletín of any substantial modification to the presentation of data or results that could affect the proposal, in whole or in part, up to the point at which it goes to press or is published digitally.

Acknowledgements

The authors have declared all relevant acknowledgements of individuals and institutions that contributed, without being authors, to the preparation of the manuscript or to the collection of any of the data contained therein.

They have also declared all relevant acknowledgements of funding, projects under which the work was carried out and research sponsors, correctly identifying the individuals, organisations or institutions concerned, including project numbers or identification codes where applicable.

Conflicts of Interest

The authors have informed the Journal of any conflict of interest involving a potential reviewer or institution, as well as any relationship with individuals or institutions with ethical, financial or commercial interests in the publication of this work.

Author Identification

The undersigned declare that they are all the authors, and the only authors, of the manuscript submitted for editorial consideration by the Journal, and are identified in ascending numerical order according to the order of authorship:
